

MASTERING THE WEAVING ART

FRONTIERSMAN/RON CALDWELL

Suzi Paukner (left above) a Tlingit from southeast Alaska residing in Sutton, teaches Linda Kovic the art of Raven's Tale Weaving at a Valley Fiber Arts Guild workshop over the weekend. At right, Mary Ellen Campbell concentrates on the weaving of a medicine bag at the workshop. This type of weaving is traditionally used to produce ceremonial blankets and items used to tell stories and impress guests.

